Dear Peter,

We are writing to thank you for your excellent and generous contributions to the WIPO Mediation and Arbitration Workshops of November 6 and 7, held in New York. We are delighted to note that the feedback we have received from the programs (evaluation summary attached) has been overwhelmingly positive.

The New York events were especially important ones for the WIPO Arbitration and Mediation Center, marking our commitment to raising awareness of the WIPO Center's alternative dispute resolution services in the North American market. It goes without saying that your professional insights and valuable time have added substantially to the success of this endeavor.

We were encouraged by the active participation of so many experienced professionals from the local community and around the world, who praised the speakers and presentations, as well as the useful and dynamic content of the programs. Of course, the generous and expert hosting of the events by Kirkland & Ellis only added to the positive experience of the participants.

We greatly appreciate the effort that you and your colleagues make to travel and present your views in spite of the clear imposition on your professional schedules which this represents.

On behalf of all WIPO Center colleagues and indeed all participants in these WIPO events, thank you so much for your invaluable service.

With best wishes,

Erik Wilbers
